ABOUT THE ORGANISER

21CLI was started by senior educators who wanted to better connect teachers and K-12 school leaders, to share good practices around what learning in schools can and must be in the 21st century.

Our core mission is Building Communities of Learners and through this we support K-12 schools in the effective use of technology for learning, teaching and administrative operations. Our activities and services include conferences and workshops, bespoke consulting services, educational research and online learning.

To that end, we bring together diverse teams to meet our partners' needs. Our output takes form in many shapes and sizes, but our mission remains constant: to help educators and schools develop best practices and their internal capabilities for education today. With our support, over 5,000 educators and counting have discovered effective uses for technology in learning, teaching and administrative operations.
